

“GOOD NIGHT TO THE KIDS AT HASBRO”

8:30 PM • EXACTLY • EVERY NIGHT

The Hot Club flicks the big neon HOT CLUB sign ON AND OFF FOR ONE MINUTE to say “Good Night to the kids at Hasbro.”

They can see the sign from their windows.

We also encourage people to bring their own flashlights and flick towards Hasbro Children’s Hospital.

FLASHING lights from the hospital happens nightly.

Cartoonist, and hospital volunteer, Steve Brosnihan came up with the idea after he began using the light on his bike to flash back to the hospital from his bus stop to say good night to patients when he left. After realizing how much the patients enjoyed it, the idea grew.

Brosnihan approached the Hot Club, with a bright red lighted sign in view of the kids’ rooms, and asked them to flash their lights to say good night to the patients.

“It has to do with helping the kids and making the kids feel like they’re connected to the outside world, so we are flicking the light every night for one minute,” said Hot Club manager, Sarah Bates.
